20 years ago...

...our Founder Ray Anderson had a personal epiphany that led to a sea change in our company, our industry and in the industrial world.

In Ray's words: “Everything has to change.”

A photograph of Ray Anderson, an older man with grey hair, wearing a dark blue jacket over a teal shirt. He is leaning against a tree trunk with his arms crossed, looking directly at the camera with a slight smile. The background is a blurred forest scene.

HOW THE JOURNEY BEGAN

- To Substantially reduce the impact that each of us has on the environment.
- We need to imagine a life where less is more satisfying, more interesting and more secure.

1. Entirely eliminate waste from our industrial production.
2. Convert from fossil fuel to renewable energy.
3. Create systems of accountability and response that support and strengthen restorative behavior.

In 1994 we set a mission to eliminate any negative impact Interface may have on the environment by 2020. We call it Mission Zero®.

Industry Low | Lowest Product Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint values are taken from publicly available third party verified Environmental Product Declarations. Although Environmental Product Declarations generally have limited comparability, the characterization factor for each product's carbon footprint is the same across all of these Environmental Product Declarations. This data is geographically limited to United States manufacturing and the above metrics do not compare any product outside of the United States.
